'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Mark Twain once remarked that humor is out of place in the dictionary.

We'll go the humorist one better and say that irony is out of place in a police station.

The other evening while paying a purely social call to the local blue coat's club, we noted that suspended over the door leading to the jail was a sign, wishing "A Merry Christmas."

The police have dug out their six inch Christmas tree with the four ornaments and have placed it on the official roll top desk, which is as old as some of the youngest members on the department.

Speaking of the police department reminds us that strangers coming to Richmond want to know the why-for about having the police headquarters two miles away from the heart of the city.

To which the best reply could be made, "Just an old Richmond custom."

One of these days we'll have our police station where it belongs—in the city hall.

Once while visiting at a nearby police station, in quite a snobbish residential city, we witnessed an interesting experiment.

It seems that a number of police chiefs were visiting around the bay region and went to this city of which we speak, to inspect the police department there.

"How do you summon an officer when he is needed," one of the chiefs asked the captain of the department.

"We have the system of red lights, as used in other departments," the captain replied. "We have three lights on top of a pole over the station."

"How does it work?" another chief asked.

"We will show you," the captain replied. "Watch and see how quickly the men respond." He turned on the light and the visitors waited.

Five, ten, fifteen, twenty minutes passed and no response. A half hour passed and the captain became worried. One of the visiting chiefs had the ill grace to snigger.

And then, just as they were about to give up hope, a phone rang. It was one of the officers. "Hey, what was the light for?" he asked.

"We're having an inspection," the captain replied, almost speechless with rage and mortification.

"I thought so," the model officer replied. "I knew it wasn't anything important so I didn't call in before."

This city has a new system of police calls.

Einstein Leaves For California On Ship

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—UP—Professor Albert Einstein has found in the past five days that the term "quiet" as interpreted in New York is distinctly relative.

The German scientist, sailing tonight at midnight aboard the Red Star liner Belgenland for California where he intends to conduct researches at Mt. Wilson observatory, discovered that however successful he may have been in charting a course of serenity for the first part of his American visit.

When first he announced his plans of travel Einstein declared hopefully that there would be no interviews and that he and his wife would be secluded in their state-room aboard the Belgenland while the vessel was at its dock. Instead the savant faced fully 100 reporters and photographers upon arrival, left the ship every day for five days, made a dozen speeches, attended a series of both private and public functions and turned sight-seer with the zeal of any American tourist in Herr Einstein's own beloved Berlin.

Today was the first and only one of the five where "quiet" slipped back to its old definition. The scientist went motoring during the morning and then returned to the Belgenland. There he received a few visitors and rested from the effects of the life rhythm of the present American map.

FRANCO COUP FAILS IN SPAIN

Copyright 1930

MAFRA, Portugal, Dec. 15.—(Delayed by censor)—Commander Ramon Franco, romantic leader of today's abortive airman's revolt outside Madrid, told the United Press on his arrival here late tonight that the revolt failed only because some supporters withdrew at the last crucial moment.

Franco and a group of companions arrived in Portugal by airplane tonight. One of them Gen. Queipo de Llano revealed to the United Press that he was selected as the head of the revolutionary forces.

Franco, the chief conspirator, invited him at noon today to take the lead, and he consented.

Franco, Spain's most daring ace and optical refuge, declared that the revolutionary proclamation which he showered over Madrid from his plane, outlined a complete program for the government the conspirators hoped to form. The rebellion, Franco told the United Press was led by men who hoped to form a constitution "definitive for the country."

The famous flier, a fugitive even when he swiftly returned to Madrid to lead the futile outbreak against the government of King Alfonso XIII landed at Alverta airbase outside Lisbon this evening.

At the meeting of the city council last night Councilman A. L. Paulsen brought to the attention of the city fathers the fact that there are a number of vacant houses in different parts of the city that should either be condemned or put in proper repair.

The matter was placed in the hands of City Manager J. A. McVittie and Building Inspector A. J. Hurley for an investigation.

Special Tree Lights Used On Park Trees

The lights used to decorate the huge Christmas tree erected by the Lions club in the Memorial park are "fool proof." In other words, they cannot be used in home tree lighting circuits.

This precaution was taken this year as the result of the theft of more than 50 lights from the Yule tree in the park last Christmas.

Local or out-of-town residents are hereby warned that the lights look very beautiful—but they can't be used for a home tree.

The new tree is one of the most beautiful in the city. It is adorned with more than 200 lights and will have a "Lions Club" illuminated sign placed upon it today.

POINCARÉ DYING, FEAR

PARIS, Dec. 15.—UP—The condition of Raymond Poincaré, elderly French statesman who is critically ill, was believed growing worse tonight.

Attending physicians were worried, and one of them arrived at 9 p. m., prepared to stay by the patient all night.

Former Premier Andre Tardieu called at Poincaré's residence but was not admitted.

Poincaré, among the most prominent statesmen of modern France, is 70 years old.

A bulletin issued at 6:30 p. m. merely said that Poincaré's condition was "stationary." The doctors refused to announce the results of their diagnosis of the illness, but hinted it might be pleuritis, brought on by over-exertion. Pleuritis is a condition in which the blood clots in the veins.

The attending physician said Poincaré, former president and premier, was in a state of advanced weakness. Complications were feared.

Poincaré's illness started with a fainting spell on Saturday, it was revealed, due, his physicians indicated, to overwork during the recent cabinet crisis.

Girl Stowaway Halts Air Trip

GLENDAL, Dec. 15.—An attempt to set an endurance re-fueling flight record here ended after 25 minutes in the air when a 20 year old girl was found aboard as a stowaway.

Capt. Jimmy Ansel, world war flier, took off from the airport and had difficulty in remaining on an even keel. He brought the ship to ground and made a search to determine what was the trouble.

Betty Brown, 20 was found and removed. The ship, tri-motored Albatross declared to be the largest ever built planned to make another attempt.

Swerving to avoid a lightless automobile caused the car which Herbert Heise, 733 Barrett avenue was driving to overturn when it hit a curb. Heise was uninjured.

The automobile which was held responsible for the accident to Heise's car did not stop. Forty-third street and Macdonald avenue was the location of the accident, police reported.

SUBSTITUTE BILL IS BEATEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—UP—

Democrats, fighting for a $60,000,000 farm loan drought bill with provisions for food advances, today defeated the administration's attempt to force through the house a $30,000,000 committee substitute.

Speaker Nicholas Longworth failed to get the necessary two-thirds majority to suspend the rules and pass the smaller bill without amendment. The vote was 205 for, 150 against. The Democrats had 38 votes more than two-thirds. Losing only one New York Democrat, they were aided by 16 Republicans and the one Farmer-Laborite, Paul Kvale, Minnesota.

The bill now will be taken up by the agriculture committee, chairman, Rep. Gilbert Haugen, Repp., Iowa, made the formal motion to put through the measure today.

Up Again

Longworth said the farm loan bill could not be taken up again until Thursday. It is expected a compromise may be drafted by the Haugen committee, but a conflict is still expected on the issue of lending money to buy food, denounced by administration spokesmen as a "Dole."

Democratic Floor Leader John N. Garner of Texas, in debate on the bill advocated the larger measure and proposed a five percent (Continued on Page Eight)

Truck Driver Kills Wife

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—James Swift, 39, truck driver, today shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Lorina Swift, 35, and fired a bullet through his own head.

The shooting is believed to have been the culmination of two years of unhappy married life. Swift, who is not expected to live, was his wife's fourth husband. The Swifts separated two weeks ago, and Mrs. Swift went to live with her mother Mrs. Nora Walker, at whose home the shooting occurred.

Swift stated, during a short period of consciousness as his reason for the shooting: "I was mad at her."

Safe Stolen, Looted By Oakland Thugs

OAKLAND, Dec. 15.—After trundling a safe on a hand truck out of the office of the delivery branch of the Sperry Flour company at 801, East Tenth street for a distance of 100 feet and then knocking off the combination at their leisure, burglars gained $50 between late Saturday and this morning, according to Police Inspectors J. B. McDonnell and William Marshall, investigators of the robbery.

H. B. Laybourne, foreman of the plant, discovered the robbery early this morning when opening the office for business.

Robbers worked all night on a safe at the same office almost a year ago, but received nothing for their trouble.

Extra! Extra! Mayor's Silk Lid Returned

The state occasion black silk tile that mysteriously disappeared Saturday morning, while Mayor A. B. Hinkley was wearing it in the Santa Claus parade, has just as mysteriously come to light again.

On the mayor's desk at the council meeting last evening was a large package, neatly wrapped, when opened proved to be the lost tile.

It was found in the City of El Cerrito, and returned by its finders, but on the two days that it was in hiding the hat had shrunk about two sizes.

On the inside of the hat was a card with the following notation: "Used but not abused. Recently outgrown by Governor elect James Rolph Jr., and donated to Mayor Hinkley by the City of El Cerrito."

The hat that showed up last night was a six and a half size, and sat on Hinkley's head, just like a knot on a tree trunk.

However, Mayor Hinkley is happy that the chapeau has been found. His only trouble will be to keep the tile on his head.

NO ACTION ON DUST MENACE

MARTIN, Dec. 15.—Efforts to curb the alleged dust menace from the Gwinn Lime and Cement company in Clayton valley would cost $118,000 to install, a report submitted to the supervisors after a visit by W. H. George, manager of the plant declared today.

The same report declared that the system would not be worth the cost of installing.

Representatives of the complaining farmers submitted evidence from physicians, chemists and other experts which indicates that the vicinity is affected by the alleged menace.

Another meeting is expected to be held in the near future.

TODAYS ODDITY

OAKLAND MILLS, Iowa, Dec. 15.—UP—A crew of 40 rescuers worked in relays for more than 100 hours in an attempt to rescue Bingo, hunting dog, trapped in a raccoon hole. The rescuers used picks and shovels, even dynamite, to make a space big enough for the dog to crawl through from his rock-bound, underground trap.

COUNCIL TO INVESTIGATE TODAY

If there is an attempt being made through unfair examinations to prevent outside plumbers from coming to Richmond and entering into business, the city council wants to know, and a hearing on the matter has been set for 2 o'clock today at the City Manager's office, when the building committee, and the parties who made the complaint will be present. At that time the charges will be thoroughly sifted.

At the council meeting last night C. E. Scott, of the Scott-Stone Realty company, which has recently purchased about 150 lots in the City Center Tract, with the plan in view of erecting from 100 to 150 homes requesting a value of $250,000 made the charge that his man, who holds a license to do plumbing in Oakland and Berkeley, was handed questions at an examination here that no craftsman could answer in the time specified. He said he did not believe the council was in sympathy with such tactics, and wanted to know if there was not some relief.

Scott said his plumber was handed a list of nearly seventy-five questions, among which was a plan for a five story house was asked to answer the questions.

The speaker stated they wanted to invest their money in this city as they had faith in its future. They had their own plasterer, electrician, plumber and other craftsmen, all of whom either lived in Richmond or El Cerrito.

"It is very evident to me," said Scott, "that the plumbers of this city do not want any other men in their line of business to come to this city, that they want to make Richmond a closed corporation."

With that the meeting for this afternoon was arranged, when the investigation will take place.

Local Stores Open Evenings

Richmond business houses remained opened until nine o'clock last night to allow shoppers an opportunity to do their Christmas shopping during the evening.

It has been the custom of merchants in the city to allow shoppers the privilege of doing their buying during the evening hours in the week preceding Christmas.

On the recommendation of the city planning commission, the council last evening rezoned lots at the corner of Ninth and Barrett avenue, so that Dr. C. O. Bishop could erect a medical arts building and clinic at that site.

The application of J. E. Blaisdell to install a service station at the corner of Wenk and San Pablo avenue was referred to the city planning commission.

Rescue Ship To Hunt Lost Airmen

SEATTLE, Dec. 15.—UP—It was believed here that the motorship Dorothea would leave either late this afternoon or tonight enroute for northern waters to search for the missing Resnahan, and his two companions, Sam Cerr and Frank Hatcher, missing since October 28.

The Dorothea was substituted for the Margueta. "Mich" was to have sailed at midnight last Saturday. A shift in plans caused the substitution and consequent delay, it was said.

The motorboat will have a crew of approximately 20 volunteers on its voyage, which was sponsored by the Seattle Star, Seattle Yacht club and business men's organizations here.

No trace of the missing trio has been discovered since their disappearance seven weeks ago, when they left Seattle to fly north and aid in the search for Capt. E. J. A. Burke's party.

2 Bandits Slain In Tea Room

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—UP—A patrolman shot and killed two bandits who attempted to hold up a tea room late today almost in the center of Chicago's teeming Loop. Pedestrians hurried for cover when the shooting started in front of the Cliff tea room. Officer Ray Schlagel attempted to arrest them when they entered the restaurant. Instead of submitting, both whipped out pistols. Schlagel beat them to the draw, however, and shot them to death with one bullet each.

The bodies of the bandits were identified by tea room employees as those of the men who robbed the place a month ago. A guard had been stationed at the tea room since the first robbery.

More than 120 persons signed petitions calling for the vote. Parts of the Shell Heights, La Salta Alhambra Heights, and Piedmont tracts are included in the petition.

Two Little Girls Do Yule Shopping

MARTINEZ, Dec. 15.—UP—Two little girls evidently "playing Christmas shopping" were found in a shoe store here Sunday calmly fitting on shoes when Deputy Sheriff G. A. Henderson entered. The girls seen through the windows of the store by passersby notified the sheriff's office and Henderson went to the scene to discover that the two had gained entrance through a pane they had broken.

At their respective homes where they were taken, it was not learned what had happened to them.

Make-up, as an art in characterization, is brought to its highest perfection by Edmund Lowe in the dual role he portrays in "Scotland Yard," Fox Movietone drama of the efficiency of the world's greatest criminal hunters, directed by William K. Howard, which will be shown at the Fox-California theater for the last times today.

As Sir John Lasher, in the picture, Lowe portrays his usual polished gentleman of the world. But as "Dakin Barrolles," England's most feared bank robber, he must assume the facial disguise and the subtle character nuances of the underworld.

So successful was Lowe in this attempt the first day he appeared on the set in his new make-up he was not recognized by a single member of the cast or technical crew working on the picture except Howard, the director, who had dictated the character. The make-up artists was to copy.

For two weeks while the sequences in which the bank robber character was being filmed, Lowe had to spend hours every morning putting on the difficult make-up.

The intensely human story involves the struggle of an underworld character to resume his place in decent society. Through the mistake of a plastic surgeon who rebuilds his face after it has been mangled in battle, Barrolles, the criminal, is made to appear exactly like Sir John Lasher, English gentleman.

MALIBU BEACH, Dec. 15.—UP—An early morning fire which destroyed 15 costly homes in the film colony's most exclusive beach resort drove motion picture celebrities into the chilly night air today.

Seven celebrities aided fire companies in the fight against the flames, but they could not be extinguished until a high wind and down three hours later.

Among those whose cottages were destroyed were Louise Fazenda, Marie Prevost, Frank Fay, Ben Henderson, Jr., Al Rockwell, George De Sylva and David Butler.

De Sylva, one of the famous song writing team, De Sylva, Brown and Henderson, reported that his wife had lost diamonds valued at $7500 and that his library, including many song manuscripts, was destroyed with a loss placed by him at $150,000. Sixteen expensive automobiles, including several recently imported, were saved.

The fire started in the home of Elizabeth J. Graham. A short time later a large storage tank containing liquid gas used in the cottages exploded, adding to the flames. Fourteen houses and their contents were completely destroyed. The blaze was controlled after gutting the cottage of Marie Prevost, which remained standing. William "Buster" Collier, Jr., led the film people in fighting the fire.

Water was obtained from the Malibu lagoon. Malibu Beach is a 20 mile drive from Hollywood.

Miss Fazenda reported that her collection of early California pottery, copper, brass and Spanish antiques was destroyed. She lives in a flat in Hollywood, which does not provide room for the collection, and she kept the articles in her beach cottage. They cannot be replaced and were not insured.

Condition Of Banks In U. S. Reported Good

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—UP—Fears for the soundness of the banking structure of the United States was allayed anew today by government officials and the weak condition statement of the Federal Reserve system.

Resources of the Reserve system were shown to be at record high levels with the ration between reserves and liabilities the highest it has been since pre-war days, except for a short time in 1924. The ration today was $79 in reserves for every $100 of demand liabilities.

Borrowings by the more than 8000 member banks comprising a third in size and two-thirds in assets of America's banking system were also at record low levels. Bills discounted for member banks were only $257,000,000 while a year ago on this date the member banks were in debt to the Reserve system by $768,000,000.

In the vaults of the Reserve system, the report showed, there now repose total gold reserves aggregating $300,000,000. An additional $1,000,000,000 in gold is held by the treasury, other banks, and the public, giving this country $4,000,000,000 of the world's estimated $10,000,000,000 gold stock.

The Bank of United States which collapsed in New York was a member bank, but New York reports indicate the system was able to prevent its closing because it lacked liquid assets to pledge as collateral for loans from the reserve. It is not thought this situation applies to other important banks.

LIGHT COMPANY DENIED NEW HEARING

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—UP—The State Railroad Commission today denied the petition of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric company for a rehearing on recent rate reductions which mean a saving of more than $2,000,000 a year to consumers.

A recent decision reduced the gas rates by $1,350,000 yearly and electric rates by $750,000 annually. Denial of the petition means that the reduced rates will go into effect, January 1.

The company contended in its petition for a rehearing that the commission had cut its rate base $30,000,000 below what it should be and therefore the gas rates alone should have been raised $650,000 to give the company a fair return. On this basis, the company declared, it would be deprived of $2,000,000 a year through the recent cut in gas rates.

In denying the petition the Railroad Commission failed to make any comment other than the customary remark that "no good cause" had appeared to alter the previous ruling.

MORE SUITS FILED IN CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—UP—Gilbert H. Beesmyer, who freely admitted misappropriating $8,000,000 of Guaranty Building and Loan association deposits, foretold his arraignment on indictment for at least 24 hours today by appearing in court without an attorney.

Beesmyer was extremely nervous as he was led into the courtroom. Questioned by Superior Judge Walton Wood he said he had no attorney and asked that he be given a few days to "think the matter over."

The court insisted that he retain an attorney and Beesmyer asked that he be arraigned and allowed to plead later. However, the court refused and ordered him to appear again tomorrow. Judge Wood asked Deputy District Attorney Harold Jones if he thought Beesmyer should be represented by counsel and Jones looked toward Beesmyer, who jerked out a brief nod.

Meanwhile, two suits, making a total of four, were filed today by depositors asking that a federal receiver be appointed. Federal Judge George Conover set Saturday as the date for hearing petitions for a receiver and for bankruptcy.

Charles A. Whitmore, state building and loan commissioner, filed a petition in superior court asking that the court approve and confirm his action in taking over the affairs of Guaranty. His action was interpreted as an attempt to offset any move to have a federal receiver appointed.

Ricci Boy Is Given By Judge To His Parents

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—UP—Restoration of the violin prodigy Ruggiero Ricci, 10, to the permanent custody of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Ricci, was decreed today by Supreme Court Justice Valentini.

Ruggiero's youngest brother Giorgio, who also plays the violin was likewise turned over to his parents.

The court order ended a long fight between the parents and Miss Beth Lackey, teacher and guardian of the two boys.

Under Miss Lackey's sponsorship, Ruggiero played a number of concert engagements, both in New York and other cities.

Royal Neighbors Entertained At Rainbow Rites

Rainbow campaign brought more than 150 members of Royal Neighbors in the bay area together last night when Maple Camp was host to the delegation.

An initiation and banquet were part of the event which was declared a grand success. A program by Mr. and Mrs. Baker's dancing pupils was enjoyed. Victory camp sang in unison, and a skit by the Mesdames Bonham, Nichols, and Silva were among the high lights of the program.

The hall was decked in colors indicative of the rainbow, while the banquet room was decorated in purple and white, the official colors of the host camp.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—UP—Three months old Mary Hanley was accidentally suffocated under the covers of her parents' bed here today.

YOUTH IS HELD ON GUN COUNT

Nearly a month's search by Richmond police was necessary to locate a suspect in a shooting at a restaurant who appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday and will receive his sentence today after pleading guilty to a charge of holding a gun in a threatening manner.

The youth is Frank Vierra, 19, of 5735 Alameda avenue, who was alleged to have shot a dog owned by F. C. Dowler, 1513 San Joaquin street on Nov. 18.

Dowler reported to police that Vierra was passing his home with a shot gun and a string of ducks. A dog owned by Dowler was declared to have run out and smelled the ducks.

Without warning Vierra was declared to have raised his gun and shot the dog dead. Dowler protested and in an ensuing scuffle Vierra and took the ducks. At that time he gave his name as John Cook of El Cerrito, police said.

Search by the police failed to reveal the youth. He was located after nearly a month's hunt and will be sentenced on the threat charge he was alleged to have made when Dowler approached him following the shooting of the dog.

Snow Falls In Eastern U. S.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—UP—The snow department of the weather factory stepped up production so rapidly tonight that most of the Midwest was frothed with a feathery deposit of snow.

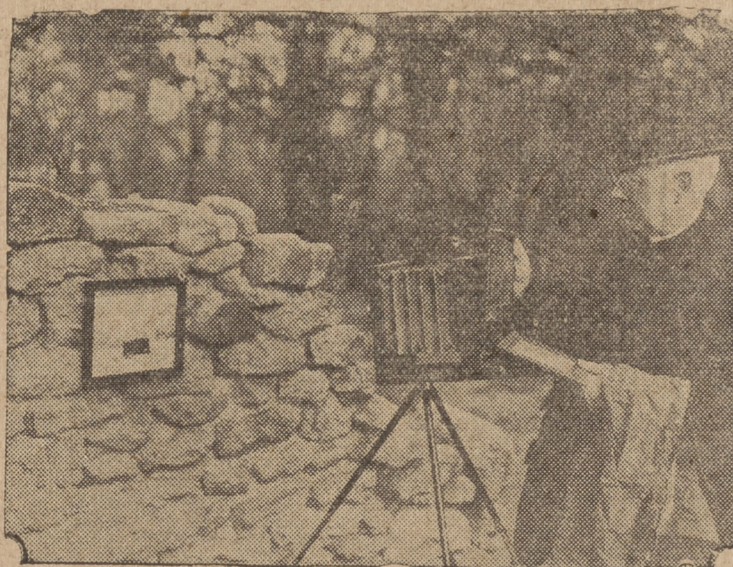

Temperatures remained just under freezing so that the damp snow clung to the boughs of trees and turned to ice on city boulevards. The white coated trees made great sport for amateur photographers and the ice-glazed streets much business for the automobile fender unclogging agencies.

Below zero temperatures brought suffering in other parts of the continent, particularly along the Canadian border. It was 30 below in Churchill, Manitoba and not much warmer in northern Minnesota.

Party In Search For Lost Giant Race Flees

(Copyright, 1930 by United Press) SOYOPA, Sonora, Mex., Dec. 15.—UP—An international expedition seeking relics of a prehistoric race of supermen ended abruptly late today when the scientists fled from a threatened attack by the fierce Yaqui natives of this region.

The members had only time to seize a few of the priceless relics they had uncovered before hastily retreating. The rest of their treasures, including the skeleton remains of three adults more than eight feet tall and five children all over six feet, were destroyed by the fanatical tribesmen as the scientists fled.

They had feared trouble from the superstitious natives from the start but believed the presence of Professor Manuel San Domingo, a scientist representing the government of Sonora, would protect them from an open break.

When he arrived late last Thursday a band of the natives was on hand. They did not molest the party, although they showed great curiosity in the excavation work. As they began to realize they were invading a burial ground—to them a sacred relic to be defended with their lives—the Yaquis became suddenly and venomously. They hampered the work and all the efforts of Professor San Domingo to mollify them were without avail.

Two daughters asleep in the house were uninjured. It was believed that the bomb was sent to avenge a neighborhood quarrel. A year ago Mastekas' automobile was dynamited.

FRANCO REVOLT IN SPAIN HALTED

NEW REVOLT ENDS IN SHORT TIME

COPYRIGHT 1930 by United Press. MADRID, Dec. 15.—(By transatlantic wireless telephone to United Press via Buenos Aires)—The government had little difficulty today in suppressing the second revolutionary outbreak in three days.

The men who sought to precipitate a rebellion today almost in the shadow of the royal palace were fleeing for their lives, tonight seeking safety over the border.

Commander Ramon Franco, picturesque romantic figure, Spain's best known flyer, led the attempt. It occurred at Cuatro Vientos (Four Winds) air field just outside Madrid. Franco, already a fugitive for political activities against the government headed by Premier Damaso Berenguer, landed at the airport and succeeded in getting a number of his former fellow officers to join the movement.

He took advantage of disturbed political and labor conditions to seek by this bold stroke to launch a revolution throughout Spain, overthrowing the monarchy of King Alfonso XIII and establishing a republic. The army, however, remained loyal and the plot failed, as did the insurrection over the week-end at Jaca, in Northern Spain, failed.

Despite the fact that labor leaders had called general strikes in several of the country's major industrial centers, effective this morning, Franco's scheme to arouse the populace to rise against the king and his government was futile. It ended less than an hour after it started.

Martial law was proclaimed throughout Spain, however, and the authorities took every precaution to prevent the general strike situation from causing riots or destruction of property. Strikes were called in Madrid, Barcelona, Bilbao, Santander and elsewhere, but during the day little disturbance occurred in any of them. At Barcelona the day appeared most serious, and heavy guards patrolled the city.

Two Killed. The most serious incident of the strikes in various industrial centers occurred at San Sebastian. Two policemen, members of the Romanones corps, were killed during an attack on the police headquarters.

Witnesses said a group of well-dressed men drove up to the police station, leaped from their motor cars and rushed the doors. They opened fire as they ran. The two policemen were shot as they prepared to defend themselves.

The government claimed to have the situation under control. Premier Berenguer conferred with the king and gave the palace, he declared that quiet prevailed in Madrid and that the country was tranquil. He deplored exaggerated reports of the declaration of a republic.

Strikes Fail. Strikes at Barcelona and elsewhere were failures, the premier asserted, and the workers were expected to return to their jobs tomorrow. He said many prisoners had been taken in the suppression of the local outburst and round-up of various labor agitators.

The abortive rebellion at the Cuatro Vientos airfield occurred this morning. Commander Franco arrived at the field in an airplane. He had been missing for a fortnight, having fled from jail after his conviction of anti-government political moves.

His sudden appearance surprised even his friends among fellow officers. He told them he planned to overthrow the monarchy and in an impassioned speech convinced some of the officers that the moment for action had come.

Commander Named. Gen. Queipo Del Llano was named commander of the rebels, with Franco and Capt. Jose Rexach as his chief lieutenants. They gained some support among the officers and men at the military airport, which is six miles outside Madrid.

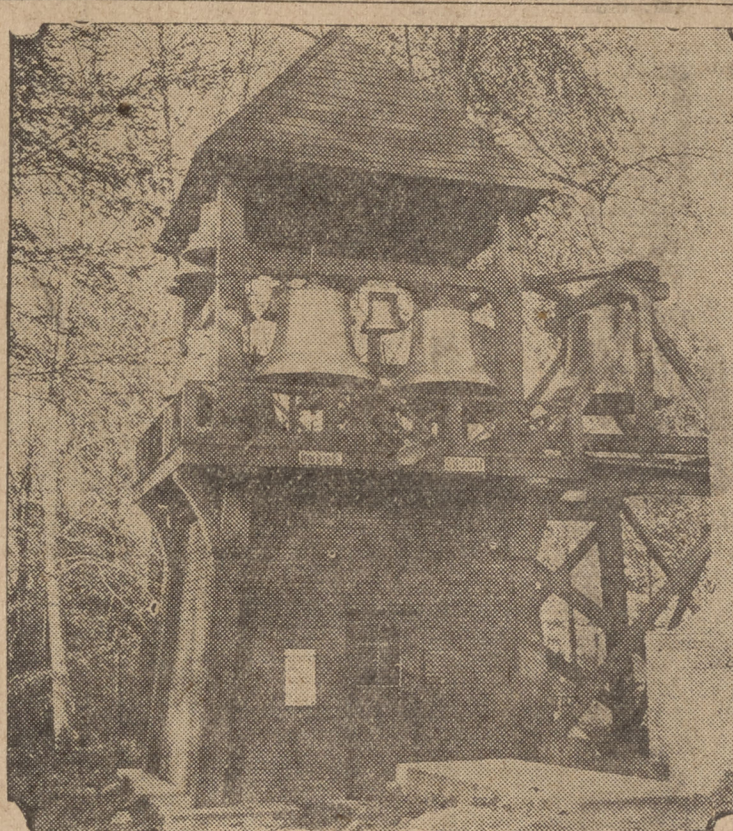

Rebel airplanes flew over Madrid dropping a proclamation calling on the army to surrender and the people to support the revolt. This was the first capital kneel of the rebellion at its gates.

At 11 a. m. a column of federal troops started for Cuatro Vientos air field. Firing against the rebel airplanes was begun at 11:45 a. m.

Leaders Flee. The loyal forces marched to the field and opened a bombardment. General Del Llano, rebel chieftain, was reported to have assembled his little band in the field, told them it was useless to try to hold out against a superior force, and fled.

He and Franco, together with Captain Rexach and Pablo Rada, a mechanic, Franco's companion on his mysterious arrival at the field, were said to have leaped into two airplanes and flown away. They were reported trying to reach the Portuguese border. Federal planes pursued them.

New Licenses Being Secured By Drivers

Thousands of motor car owners are heading the long waiting line for their new 1931 license plates, according to reports from the various offices of the division of motor vehicles. The period for renewal of registration embraces only a few weeks, ending at midnight of Jan. 15. Wise motorists it is pointed out, are those who apply now and avoid the inconvenience and delay of the usual "last minute" rush.

Prompt service is available now, in contrast with the long waiting line that will be experienced by those who neglect to apply until the closing days of the registration period.

The division of motor vehicles is handling applications and distributing plates at Sacramento, San Francisco, Oakland, and Fresno. Mail applications are received by the division at the Sacramento office.

Registration procedure is simple, requiring only the presentation of the 1930 white slip certificate and the $3 fee, or the pink certificate of ownership and $3.50 if the white slip is lost.

TWO CHINESE JAILED ON CHARGES

Instead of seeing the Japanese-Chinese benefit football game played in San Francisco Sunday, two Chinese from Courtland spent the time in Richmond jail. William Chun, 32 and John Y. Bow, 34 were arrested Saturday night after a report had been made to Richmond police of a robbery by two men on the highway near Giant.

Grant McGraw, 658 South Forty-third street was unable to identify the two suspects, when he confronted them at the Richmond police station.

They were detained on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and yesterday were sentenced by Police Judge C. A. Odell to 10 days in the county jail and fined $50 each when they pleaded guilty to those charges.

Jack Bettencourt, 1233 Evelyn avenue, Albany reported to El Cerrito police that he had been robbed of $15 while sitting in a parked car with Miss Evelyn Miller, 232 Masonic avenue on the San Pablo canyon road. He was unable to identify the suspects at the Richmond police station.

McGraw was robbed of $20 and a watch he reported to police. Neither the watch nor the $20 bill was found on the suspects when they were apprehended by police. It was believed by police when they made the arrests that the pair in the car was trying to crowd another automobile into the curb in an effort to commit another robbery.

RECORD-HERALD—ALWAYS FIRST WITH THE NEWS

BANNER YEAR IS SEEN AT P. O. HERE

Christmas business at the Richmond postoffice this year was expected to be larger than any previous 12 months, as Postmaster John A. Miller prepared to take care of the rush that is due shortly.

Approximately 10 extra clerks and carriers will be added to the present force during the next few days to speed the handling of the Christmas mail.

Three parcel post windows will be opened to the public to facilitate Christmas mailing. The regular parcel post mailing hours will be in force until 6 p. m. daily, but stamps may be purchased until as late as 10 p. m.

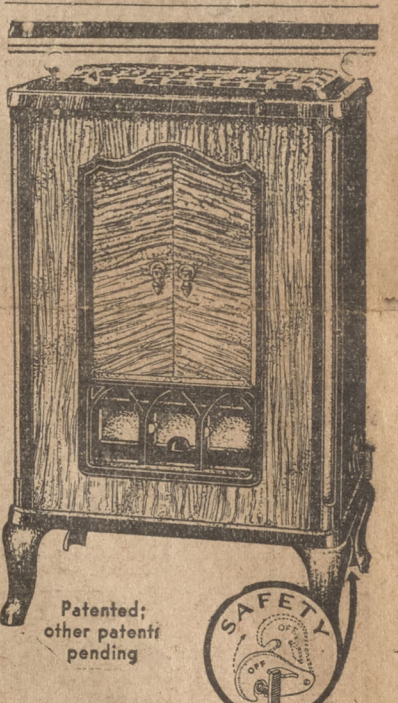

This new service will become available beginning tonight and will continue until Christmas. Postmaster Miller warned that regular parcel post service will not be available later than 6 p. m. daily, however.

Married unemployed men were to be given preference in the work that will be given previous to Christmas.

At the close of last month's business the postoffice showed larger receipts than any previous year. A banner year is expected to be set when the totals have been made public at the close of 1930. Postmaster Miller has promised the best service to the public that is available and was expecting the co-operation of the people in making it possible to report increased receipts over 1929.

One Wounded In Fight With Police

Men Are Getting Scarcer—Be Kind to Them

WHAT with a "period of depression," and the Christmas shopping that somehow has to go on in spite of it, women are having plenty to bother them, these early December days. Yet now, on top of everything else, come certain sad and sombre statistics that returns just made public—

Figures on the fading of MEN!

This, we insist, is bad news for women.

Since, despite the progress of feminism, most women like men (even when laughing at them) and like men AROUND!

Therefore, even American women learn with sympathetic regret.

That in Europe today there are 18,000,000 fewer men than women.

While the World War is partly responsible for the discrepancy.

Nevertheless, birth statistics made public in Paris show that a freak of racial reproduction.

Accounts for the greater part of the diminishing returns in masculinity.

Also, male babies are less likely to survive than female (the stronger sex).

It is estimated that, if the same proportions continue for one hundred and fifty years,

There will be in Europe three women to every man!

And long before that time it is probable

That desperate husband-hunters from overseas will be poaching on American preserves—

So the sympathy of American women for their European sisters

May well be tinged with apprehension!

Furthermore, the man supply in the United States has been decreasing.

We still have something like 2,000,000 more men than women—about 4 per cent—

But statistics show that our excess male population

Has been cut by 2 per cent in the last twenty years.

Then, too, figures based on the last census report reveal the fact

That even at present, in this country, widows outnumber widowers two to one!

It is not only as true, as every girl knows,

That the nice men are always married—

But the nice men most often STAY married, for the term of their earthly career.

Wives outwear husbands!

(No, we did NOT say "wear out!")

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company says that one reason

Why the odds are on the survival of the wife

Is that men are subject to a somewhat higher mortality than women (as we were saying, the stronger sex).

Now, the moral of the situation is obvious:

Men are getting scarcer—

Therefore, it is up to women to take the best possible care of the men who still remain.

To feed them well.

To be mindful of their comfort and safety and happiness.

To love and to cherish them, in sickness and in health.

To PROTECT what is beginning to look like a vanishing species.

For, after all, what men have said of women is just as true the other way around—

Even while women sometimes feel that they can't live without men, they can't live WITHOUT them, either!

A DISH A DAY

International lines in cooking have disappeared to great extent, owing to the enthusiasm with which both hotel chefs and housewives have embraced the culinary discoveries of other countries. Almost every country in the world offers in its own language the cook books of other nations, and so universally have certain dishes and modes of cooking been adopted that their local origin is forgotten.

To the Italians and to the French Basques we are indebted for knowledge of cooking in oil, and if economical Americans insist on substituting corn oil for olive, at least the principle remains the same. From the Russians a considerable number of sophisticated have learned that sour cream is a delicacy that should have an honored place in soups, and both Scandinavians and Spanish have influenced the seasons of our meat and vegetable dishes. If we show something less than enthusiasm for the cooking of Great Britain, it is only because their foods seem a little soggy and pallid beside the exotic improvements of Europe and the Orient.

About the only food product which has retained a native style is bread. In New York and other large cities one finds a vast assortment of yeast breads and quick breads, of soft, of broches, and rusks, and heavy, sour rye breads. Yet few of these quite satisfy the native cooks of the countries where they originated.

Only the other day it was impressed upon me that while bakeries in New York may offer Scotch breads that look like the original, they do not taste the same. A Scotch woman of my acquaintance was complaining bitterly about the quality of scones she had found in our tea rooms. She pointed out to me that a scone is not a mere adjunct to breakfast, or

Surely a Legal Fiction

Women thrilled to read, the other day, of the heroism of the English girl, Miss Winifred Spooner, who swam two miles to the Italian coast through a midnight ocean in order to obtain rescue for her flying companion, Capt. E. C. T. Edwards, when their plane was forced down. He could only cling to the plane, and was nearly dead of exhaustion when brought ashore. Such incidents make women wonder how much longer will endure the legal assumption that, when husband and wife are killed in the same accident, the husband is the last to perish because he belongs to the stronger sex.

The Inspiration

Completing the Bachelor Apartment

By Alma Zaiss

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I would be pleased to have any suggestions you think advisable looking toward the improvement in arrangement and decoration of the apartment I occupy with another man. A diagram of the living room is inclosed, showing the size of same, windows and closets. This is not a large room, but is light and well ventilated and comfortable even with our inept attempts at arrangement.

The present equipment consists of two Turkish rugs in shades of red and blue; a carved oak table used as a desk; double bed dovetail upholstered in red corded material; two large overstuffed chairs, one of tan leather and one of tapestry; a book trough; radio, one smoking stand of teakwood; two standing lamps and a table lamp. Walls are dark cream and curtains of monks' cloth in natural color, which blends very well with the walls. We have no good pictures, and cannot afford them now.

In a large closet is a chest of drawers and space for clothing; a second small closet we would like to turn into a sort of bar or serving pantry for preparing occasional light lunches or refreshments. We also need a place for books and extras, but see no good location for a case or shelves. We would like more chairs, if there is a place for them, but wish to avoid crowding above all things. Assuring you of our appreciation for any assistance given, I am,

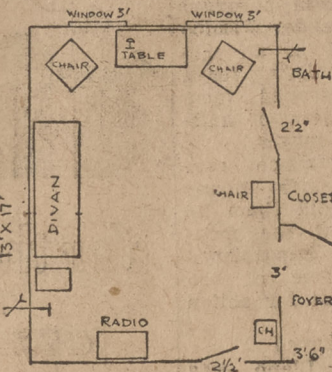

(Mr.) C. J. P.

Great Are the Small Things in Decoration

WE may be wrong . . . but considering the line about the closet to be turned into a bar or serving pantry. It sounds very much as though these two self-sufficient bachelors might be planning a Christmas party in their newly-acquired home. And of course they will want the menage to make a good first impression.

It has been some time since a man's problem has received answer through the paper, although several interesting ones have had personal attention. Will feminine readers stand by for a night, then, while we speak to men who are negotiating homes all alone?

The fundamentals for the apartment outlined by Mr. P. are fairly well provided for, and, generally speaking, the original plan submitted by him needs little serious criticism, although the alterations indicated on the diagram of rearrangement will make the room more hospitable and convenient.

The new position of the desk, for example, at right angles to the window where the light falls unobstructed from the left, will be much more comfortable than the old one which required the writer to face the light. The jutting position of the table will also give variety of outline and break the around-the-wall effect which obtains when all pieces are placed flat against the walls.

The chief needs of Mr. P.'s room

are what we might term the "trimmings" . . . the pleasing design and color in curtains, upholstery and pictures which raise a room from mediocrity to distinction. In this case come also a few odd pieces of furniture which, while absolutely necessary, create a sense of completeness that adds much to the livability of the room.

We will consider first the curtains. The rugs furnish definite color and pattern, it is true . . . too much of it to be let down completely by the neutral treatment of the windows. Instead of the natural monk's cloth now in use we would suggest glass curtains of light weight pongee and overcurtains of hand-blocked or printed linen having a tan ground and a mannish design in reds and blues, greens and golds in keeping with the design of the Orientals. Or, if plain hangings are preferred, then why not draperies of that new basket-weave rep that looks so much like woven ribbon? This material is rich in effect and colorful, with just a suggestion of gold woven through. It comes in a good shade of red and a particularly good bluish-green that would blend with the blues found elsewhere in the room. Heavy, rough shantung in color is also a drapery fabric that appeals to men.

In the room in question there is plenty of space for another comfortable chair and two side chairs. The present tan leather lounging chair sounds good and the tapestry-covered chair may not be so bad, although if printed linen is used for curtains we should prefer to see this chair slip-covered in the same linen. For the new chair it would be smart to use deep blue velvet of the rather heavy cotton or linen backed quality that gives excellent service and is more or less tailored in appearance as distinguished from the dresser velvets.

You and Your Child

Jealousy

A MOTHER wrote me recently: "I don't know what to do with my four-year-old. He won't do a thing for himself. If I don't feed him he won't eat; if I don't dress him he remains undressed. I know he is capable of doing these things, because in his nursery school he does them very well. What should I do about it?"

If one wanted to give this question a superficial answer, one might say: "If you refuse absolutely to baby your child any longer he will be compelled to depend upon himself. When he is hungry he will eat; when he wants to go out doors he will dress himself."

I question the wisdom, however, of treating problems such as these in this superficial way without getting at the root of the difficulty. All childish "peculiarities" ought to be treated as symptoms. They should be regarded as danger signals, telling us that all is not well.

When I spoke to the mother of this dependent little boy, I found out that he had a baby brother whom he disliked intensely. And this explained the whole situation to me. He was jealous of the baby and of all the attention and affection the baby was receiving. So he wanted to be a baby, too, and receive a large share of his mother's undivided attention; hence his demand on her time.

I advised this mother, first of all, to give this child even more of her time and show him even more affection than the baby (not an easy task). I advised her, also, to let him help her in the care of the baby, in an effort to awaken his love for his little brother. Then she must go a step further and arouse this child's pride in being "mother's little man," "mother's great help," etc. She must show this child how much she appreciates having a big boy who is able to do so many wonderful things!

Often, an older child is jealous of his baby brother or sister. And how natural this is! Before the advent of the baby, this child was the king of his domain. But after the baby's arrival his crown was rudely taken from him. All unconsciously, parents allow their time and attention to become wholly absorbed by the new, absolutely dependent member of the family. Of course, they love their first born just as much as ever. But how is he to know this unless he receives the same demonstrations of affection as he did formerly?

So, when in handling all kinds of problems one finds that the root of the difficulty is jealousy!

Preserve the Luggage

TREATING the leather surface of your luggage to a waxing every so often will help to retain its original shiny newness. First brush the bags, suitcases and trunks thoroughly. Then a waxing will nourish and preserve the leather and helps to form a hard, protective film. A treatment like this lessens the danger of harmful marring and scuffing.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

(Only six persons in the world understand the Einstein theory. One of these is J. Herman Seidlitz. The other five are Dr. Einstein, Lady Astor, Arthur Brisbane, Amos and Andy. In today's gigantic article, Mr. Seidlitz explains to our readers what the Einstein theory is. J. Herman Seidlitz needs no introduction to the public as an expert on mathematics and metaphysics. He won the Nobel Prize in 1887 for subdividing the atom. In 1892 he won the prize again for breaking down a slice of cold chicken into nine drug store sandwiches. Mr. Seidlitz beat Einstein to it in 1906 when he discovered that space is nonexistent. This discovery was made in New York on a Lexington Avenue subway train. Other scientific triumphs of Mr. Seidlitz were his discoveries that the electron's place is in the ohm and that a gas meter represents perpetual motion, even when you have closed up the house for the summer months. In simple, forceful and direct language, he explains the Einstein theory today. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not satisfied.)

THE EINSTEIN THEORY EXPLAINED

By J. Herman Seidlitz

MANY admirers have asked me for an explanation of the Einstein theory of relativity. Inasmuch as Dr. Einstein, on his visit to America, will be too busy tipping deck stewards, ducking cameras and explaining his customs declaration, I have decided to relieve him of this task.

Only five of us besides the doctor understand the theory and I think the doc is a little hazy about it himself. But I will never forget the day he completed his theory. He showed his mathematical deductions to a small group of us in the back room of a Berlin hotel. Lady Astor grasped the point of the theory at once and got off a flip crack. We all laughed so heartily at her sally that she decided to run for Parliament where she would have a permanent audience.

Arthur Brisbane also understood the theory perfectly as soon as Einstein was half through explaining it. In fact, when Einstein showed how he broke down the atom, Mr. Brisbane claimed he had discovered the idea first. He brought out a batch of his column clippings that told how when the government dissolved the original Standard Oil Company, they broke it down into smaller atoms like the Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of Indiana, Standard Oil of New York, etc., and now each of the smaller companies is bigger than the original one.

Mr. Brisbane's first clipping with reference to this phenomenon was dated June 6, 1914. He showed clippings where he had repeated the idea at least once a week right down to the present time. He also offered to read us a couple of his columns on California real estate, but Lady Astor objected.

Amos and Andy were not present at this meeting as they were broadcasting toothpaste in Chicago. However, I am sure they understood Einstein's theory as well as the rest of us.

THIS AND THAT

Congress has passed another measure of humanitarian legislation. It voted to keep alcohol mixed with our poison so it won't freeze this winter.

William Z. Foster, at a Washington investigation, declared America will be in a Communist realm in two or three years. He's counting his heads before they are cracked.
